

scheduling: the process of determining when work should be performed.

work: Any computations that must be performed. Work is usually the result of an update (e.g. `setState`).

A fiber represents a unit of work.

It means that fiber represents a computation triggered by a data change.