

Reconciliation.

React provides a declarative API so that you don't have to worry about exactly what changes on every update.