And this concept is universal.
You can build anything using components abstraction.

Give a try!